FOUNDATION YEARBOOK

1979–1980

You hold in your hands the first PCA Foundation Yearbook ever published. Though this first book is small, its intentions are big, for here lies the "foundation" of what will hopefully be the PCA annual yearbook. You may ask why we feel the idea of a College-wide yearbook is important. The answer is simple; PCA is a school of many departments and sections -- each unique and independent of the other. Though this quality has its advantages, we feel that keeping in contact and sharing our arts, our ideas, our talents are qualities more important towards the development of mature and well-rounded artists. A yearbook itself cannot accomplish this task but it can serve as a beginning, with it you can keep track of the friends made in foundation and those made along the way. It is up to you however, to maintain these friendships and remain in contact throughout these next three years. You alone can make PCA whole and a better learning experience than it is already.
